iOS Developer / Access Code Fellowship at C4Q - NYC, New York

June 2015 to Present

Access Code produces high quality iOS developers through a 9-month curriculum developed and taught by leading iOS experts from companies such as Yahoo, Artsy, and betaworks. Accepting only 5% of applicants, the highly selective program prepares graduates with both comprehensive technical training in iOS as well as an immersive entrepreneurial and product oriented learning.

Coalition for Queens is a non-profit aimed at fostering diversity and easier accessibility to tech in Queens. They give amazing opportunities to minorities and underrepresented communities to become successful iOS and Android developers.

iOS Developer / Neverlate app - NYC, New York

November to December 2015

Presented at New York Tech Meetup as the "hack of the month". Worked on a team of 3 to design and develop Neverlate, a fun and motivating app that allows users to create a goal with a friend, and if they are late to their destination, they need to pay their buddy. Wireframed and designed the UI and UX using Sketch 3. Using Neverlate, lateness was reduced 70%.

iOS Developer / OfficeHours app - NYC, New York

October 2015

Worked on a team of 3 to build a community building app during a 48-hour Hackathon. OfficeHours helps underserved and underrepresented communities find local tutors to receive personalized help, with an emphasis on programming. Designed the UI and UX using Photoshop. Products were evaluated by an elite panel of judges including Benjamin Jackson, Director of Mobile at VICE Media, and Tony Barnes VP of Tech Innovation at Capital One.

Barista / Kaffe 1668 - NYC, New York

May to August 2015

Reduced time customers spent in line by 30%. Planned with the owners to create highly efficient POS (Square) strategies that allowed for increased sales while maintaining high quality service. Team earned 20% more tips when I was working. Facilitated a harmonious work environment for a diverse team of 5 baristas

Cook II / Stonehill Tavern at The St.Regis Monarch Beach - Dana Point, California

March to June 2014

Developed new seasonal dishes for the tasting menu alongside the executive and sous chef. Performed incredibly demanding tasks while under tremendous pressure from restaurant owner Michael Mina. Efficiently prepared the entire kitchen to be kosherized during a complete hotel buyout on Passover week, where several hundreds of people were served a strictly monitored variety of food.
